

An American flag is draped over a surface of weathered, grey wooden planks. The flag's stars and stripes are visible, with the red and white stripes flowing across the frame. The background is a rustic, textured wood.

Praying for America

I urge, then, first of all, that petitions, prayers, intercession and thanksgiving be made for all people— for kings and all those in authority, that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness and holiness. 1 Timothy 2:1-2

America needs our prayers. Our nation is divided. Hatred is infiltrating our neighborhoods. Our joy is being replaced with criticism and paranoia. God calls us to pray for those in authority. Let's spend some time dedicated to lifting up our great country in prayer to our Creator. Let's pray that He will use us to show love, kindness and compassion to a world that is filled with darkness and sorrow.

Each day as you read scripture and pray for America, please write down the names of the leaders that you specifically want to pray for. Pray for the leaders of your city, your county and your state as well as those that lead us in our nation's capital. Include your local judges, senators, representatives, your mayor and city council. Call them by name when you ask God to bless them with wisdom and guidance.

As you list your requests to God, also take the time to write down something good that you hear about each day. With so much negativity right now, it is easy to be pulled down. Look for things that you bring you hope and encouragement. There is a saying that regardless of what you are looking for, you will find it. If we are looking for good, we will find good.

As we join together and pray for our nation, may we shine like stars in the skies and may God be glorified by everything that we say and do.

For HIS glory,

Michelle
